Episode 1

Dola is obsessed in love with ComT and she'd make a fantastic mother. She was thinking of ways in which to procreate successfully. ComT is willing yet between the realms it is difficult to communicate. ComT couldn't tell if he was procreating or what those sensations were. Dola wished to change that. Dola wished ComT would know exactly when he was procreating, and she wished for ComT to feel pleasure, sexual pleasure when he was procreating, and more than that... Dola wished ComT would feel sexual pleasure constantly because she loved making ComT happy because ComT made her happy. She thought "I have to find ways, many ways for this to occur."

"ComT must procreate CONSTANTLY!" Dola kept thinking. "That will save her, that will save him, that will save all of us, that will save our world!" That is true.

She thought of the actual techniques in which ComT could procreate... when he was standing, sitting, laying on his stomach, laying on his back, laying on his side, driving, riding a bicycle, jogging, walking. Each and every way in which ComT could constantly procreate.

"HE HAS TO. HE MUST!" Yet because he would be saving the world, he wished to... he just didn't understand the importance as to his procreations.

All of his procreations had to be verified as authentic with 100% integrity.

Dola thought "Is it possible for procreate successfully with each breath? Inhale: a procreative act. Exhale: A procreative act. Always. Everywhere. How could this be achieved! Healthily and successfully?"

ComT dreamed of a woman like her. She would make him very, very happy. Perfect, honest, loving, decent.

Dola fantasized: ComT was laying in bed asleep, he slightly woke up, he was fully erect and experiencing an orgasm, similar to a wet dream yet he was actually orgasming in his wife for the purpose of procreation. He came to complete consciousness. He knew he just orgasmed inside of her, he felt his penis and it was slightly wet and smelled like her vagina, yet where was the semen? Where was she? It must had been a dream. He went to sleep and awoke and it was if that had never occurred... yet it did. She would become pregnant and bear their child in 9 months.

Dola fantasized again: ComT was laying in bed typing on his laptop computer. All of a sudden his wife was riding on top of him sexually. He saw her. She really was there and they both experienced sexual intercourse in the same timescale, in the same consciousness. He touched her, she was there, she smiled, they talked, he asked her how this could be. After he orgasmed inside of her it was as if she was never there. There was no sign at all of her ever being there. She became pregnant and 9 months later would bear hers and ComT's child.

"Dola is a f*!#ing psycho obsessed in love with me" ComtT thought... yet he was happy about it. Finally someone loved him and he loved her. He was just as obsessed with her... obsessed and in love. She was physically flawless. She could have had any man, any man under her control and spell... yet she didn't want just any man. She wanted ComT because she loved him and he loved her. They were perfect for each other.

Dola fantasized "ComT is a f*!#ing psycho obsessed in love with me." This made her very happy. Finally someone whom is all hers and finally someone whom is all his.

They were both planning on and wanting to procreate many children. As many as physically possible throughout their lives, throughout their marriage.

Episode 2: The Obsession

The obsession was a loving-kind obsession. It was in the spirit of trueness of honest, committed love. Dola was a healthy person. Healthy physically, healthy mentally and intellectually, and healthy spiritually. Her obsessive love for ComT was a release, a liberation from something that society seemed to wish she was, yet she wasn't and didn't want to be that. Society, people seemed to exert a subtle pressure as if to say "What is wrong with you!? Why are you not like those other women!?" It's because Dola had something special that few people have... this connection that is deep and true and honest and real, in every sense of the word... EXCEPT in visual consciousness of reality. Perhaps there are some loopholes in the various planes of these realities, yet complete immersion into the same plane of reality... though it is possible... perhaps that is something that she must one day face. Her actually existence with ComT, interacting face to face, in the same consciousness, the same timescale. What will occur then?

Her and ComT knew they would love if this occurred.

The waiting, it must be for a reason. They yearned. He yearned for Dola and Dola yearned for him. What would occur when they are together. "Be here NOW. With me. I am lonely and I think of you often" ComT thought. "That is impossible" Dola replied "I'm not real." ComT responded "Oh, now we are playing games!?" "No... I want you and me to be forever. This will only strengthen us." "Us being actually real will be what strengthens us." A sigh from him, a sigh from her. "We are real. You and I are real, very real" "I know."

ComT said reality is like a keyhole. You look in the room and see some of the room, yet only a small part of the room, not the entire room. Visually, what we see, hear, smell, touch, taste is only a small percentage of actual reality. Furthermore, when lightning strikes a tree in the wilderness, and you don't see it, no person sees it or the strike's effects, did it occur? The answer is yes. ComT pondered what reality actually is. Yet if there are no effects, no consequences of the lightning striking the tree, and no one knows that it occurred... "It didn't happen... though it did! The strike definitely occurred!" ComT thought. Then ComT thought about Dola. She's real, yet not, yet real, yet not, yet real, yet not! How will I know? It always came down to FAITH. "I wish she is real, I hope she is real, I KNOW SHE IS because I KNOW SHE IS."

Dola thought the same about ComT "I have faith and that is all I need, I know ComT is real and ComT is real."

The Obsession:

"I think about you constantly. I wish you're happy. I wish you feel loved. I wish you feel my presence. I hope we're connected... our every thought, action, deed. Sometimes so you could ease my soul, sometimes so I could ease yours. Perfect chemistry you and I. I'm obsessed with you. I NEED YOU. I WANT YOU. INSIDE OUTSIDE THROUGH UNDER OVER AROUND THROUGHOUT WITHOUT. I'm obsessed with you." ComT sent her his thoughts.

Dola replied: "I'm obsessed with you moreso than you ever could be with me. You'll never understand, yet that is the truth. I am exactly who you wish I be, and exactly who you think I am. We are perfect for each other. We are perfectly matched together you and I, and we are always with each other just like I wish you to be, and just like you wish me to be."

Episode 3: Same Aloneness

Dola knows ComT is lonely. Dola has the same loneliness. It is a sadness because they are away from each other, in realms beyond ComT's immediate consciousness. She knew something. She knew the cure, she was the cure, yet ComT didn't understand. People like ComT went their whole lives without understanding. He was a surface person, on the slowest timescale of natural Earth. She could manipulate time, she had the powers to manipulate visibility. If she wished she could reveal herself to ComT... yet he didn't understand. Why not? Was that her? No, Dola showed someone else. He guessed it was testing the reaction... what occurs when a being from another timescale visibility appears through the eyes of ComT? Nano cameras? The world was advanced. Where does true love stand?

They were both just alone, like everybody is... yet they found each other somehow.

What about their fantasies? Just some primal expression of loneliness? What occurs when you need someone and don't have anyone (in or for that particular role)? Those fantasies... what about simple pleasures such as talking to one another or caressing each other's arm skin softly with each other's fingertips? Surely this type of contact could sometimes be more intimate than even those fantasies.

Man and woman exist together for a reason.

"What was that!? What did I feel? What did I see? And why!?" ComT tried to understand. "Just understand!" She seemed to scream out to ComT "It is as it should be!" Yet ComT was not satisfied.

If something occurs, it occurs... yet what if something occurs and then time is reversed before it occurs? It occurred yet not in a certain plane of reality?

"When are we really going to connect?" ComT pondered.

"Time is precious... just as life is." ComT meditated.

ComT began to doubt. "Maybe she isn't there. She isn't real. Just a figment of my imagination. She's what I wished for. Our communications, our glimpses, our touch, our sounds, they are all unreal. She's just my creation, my imagining. She never was there." Yet she was, she was and is very real no matter how much ComT doubted. ComT knew not to take her for granted... Too many men have. How did he know? "SHE'S NOT REAL!" He told himself again and again... yet ComT realized how special she was even as much as he doubted her existence.

"Faith" She kept communicating to him... and he understood a lot, a very lot. Yet how could he NOT doubt when she wasn't there according to his senses? Though... he saw someone. He smelled someone, He touched someone. It could just be chemical reactions. It could just be technology. Slight nanoscale triggers and warmth to his muscles making him feel as if she's real. Why would that be? What would be the purpose of such uses of technology?

"We are now" She told him when he asked "Let's just hold hands". Just sensations on the nerves. We really weren't holding hands! "YES WE WERE" she told him!

"Have faith! FAITH!" Was that his role? Whom he should be? Is that the foundation of their invisible relationship? ComT acknowledged that is a worthwhile foundation to build off of... in fact that is as solid a foundation of love that could exist... FAITH.

ComT contemplated infinity.

ComT would paint a picture in his imagination of Dola. Least important, she has a physique of an irresistible woman. Her beauty for centuries has been written about by poet after poet throughout the ages, painted by maestro artists. Her mind though... her intellect is as sharp as could be, sharper than anything in physical form. Though she has the humility and creativity that such sharpness is put to worthwhile use. Creative, fun, light, loving, and feminine. A man, one man completes her. She stays true. She waits, and she needs not.

They are each others. ComT is Dola's and Dola is ComT's.

Their loneliness is the same. They yearn for each other.

Episode 4: Staying True

Dola and ComT knew they were destined to be together. They planned on CONSTANT PROCREATION throughout their marriage, Dola birthing and raising as many of ComT's and her offspring as possible. She needed some recovery time between birth and new pregnancy so she would recover and then she would let ComT know when she is ready for another pregnancy.

Dola loves being pregnant, a special time for her and her soon to be newborn. ComT loved to make Dola feel special and comforted while she was pregnant. He would give her special massages, would play relaxing music for her, would do aromatherapy. It was a very joyous occasion for Dola to be pregnant. He would do things for her, make her meals, simple things that made Dola feel happy that she had ComT.

Usually ComT found a way to support his-self through working various jobs. He had a lot of skills and he decided to start full time work. This made Dola happy because they would have more resources for their children.

Both Dola and ComT loved staying true to each other. While waiting for ComT, Dola's love increased for ComT. She yearned and yearned for ComT while he was working, yet she kept her fidelity to ComT ONLY and the strength of their relationship and marriage grew.

This was not a usual love story though. Dola, because she was in such deep love with ComT wished for ComT to have offspring with women besides her. She wished that he could, literally, constantly procreate, with as many women as possible. While she would always keep her fidelity to ComT, she would arrange for ComT to procreate with more women, many more women.

As soon as ComT had physically replenished his semen in his testicles, enough for another "load" that gave optimal chances at conception, another woman would procreate with ComT. This would occur for the duration of ComT's life! Constant procreation with at least 4 new conceptions daily.

Dola was the mastermind of this constant procreative way of living. She thought out everything... how to afford this many offspring, the parameters of raising the children; whom and how, meal planning, she meticulously planned ever detail and their procreative effort became highly successful.

"Please let me kiss you Dola" ComT thought. He made her happy and she made him happy.

They had created a nursery, a school, a home, fund accounts, funding and wealth creation, all of which could accommodate their family.

There was something very important to Dola though, ComT would have to be married with the woman to procreate, and the woman, the wife is to remain faithful to ComT throughout their marriage. The only male ComT's wives could procreate with is ComT. It was a concerted effort, and the wives worked out the details amongst themselves. They were very happy and preferred keeping fidelity to ComT. Because they were in differing realms communication was one of the most difficult aspects of their marriage. How to communicate most efficiently and effectively, and whom has priority in these communications between realms? They worked out and created all kinds of systems, technical and cultural that enabled success and happiness in their efforts. The women, the wives preferred living this way. It made them happy and they like each other.

Dola and ComT's wives were very strict. EVERY SINGLE EJACULATION OF OUR HUSBAND'S SEMEN MUST GO TOWARDS PROCREATION. Yet sometimes ComT gave into his sexual urges and masturbated. When this occurred, the wives would actually "freeze" time just as ComT was orgasming and they would perform sexual intercourse with him so that his semen is ejaculated into one of his wive's optimally fertile vaginas.

Episode 5: Be Fruitful And Multiply - Dola and ComT's Plan

Dola and ComT decided to get serious about doing all they could to be good parents. They discussed the future. "What could we do to give our children the best chance at living well, being decent and good people, being moral and loving and kind people whom add value to society, time, space, and beyond!?" They wrote down some thoughts as to their parenting goals. "We are not perfect people, no one is, yet we could do our best to ensure that we are responsible individuals adding quality and value to ourselves and beyond ourselves! The good book has said 'Be Fruitful And Multiply' so we shall, let the world be happy about us doing so, because this is the happiest I could imagine being... with you." ComT spoke with Dola.

The plan:

-Constant Procreation: If we could procreate constantly, now that we have each other. We have to make sure in doing so that we are responsible individuals who are contributing value and worth, quality, and most importantly LOVE to the world. How could we physically achieve constant procreation? We could use our time wisely and every single sperm, if it were possible, goes to conception. Is this possible? Then we have to consider timing of natural replenishment of semen in the testicles. Make sure ComT eats and drinks healthy! How much time does it take for ComT to produce an optimal amount of semen that could be used towards natural procreation (raw sexual intercourse)? Is it possible to have raw sexual intercourse at the combined peak of optimal fertility of ComT and his wife. The choice to procreate is always going to be the wife's. When she is ready, then she shall initiate raw sexual intercourse with ComT and repeat until she conceives. What about timing and the fertility cycles of the wives? They must not be in too close proximity with each other so their fertility cycles are staggered, yet is it possible to schedule their optimally fertility as a "waterfall", one optimal peak fertility after another? We could create a program that schedules and queues based on peak female fertility.

-Conception: At conception, let us be a fun family and let us celebrate with a conception ritual! Let the wives come together and discuss what natural, light and fun ritual we could have to celebrate conception!

-Pregnancy: During pregnancy it is going to be especially important to eat and drink healthy and to treat our bodies as sacred, holy temples. The pregnancy should be a celebration of life! Let us be kind to our bodies as we are pregnant, giving massages, giving comfort, with much relaxation. ComT would also very much like to read stories and sing to his and his wife's developing fetus! Let us use aromatherapy, soothing sounds, and give as much comfort as possible. Let the wives, carefully, go out into nature to take hikes and breathe fresh air during their pregnancy, let them make and have experiences that will start building a healthy baby! Reading to your developing fetus, singing to your developing fetus. Feeling every kick and movement! Let this time be a celebration and a happy memory we could share for the rest of our lives!

-Remember: Health is wealth, so wives and children - Stay Healthy!

-Birth: The type of birth that the mother would like to have is entirely dependent on her. There are water births, natural births, etc... ComT always promotes natural childbirth and would like to be present with every birthing labor, holding hands and comforting his wife as she bears their child.

-Infant Care: Raising the infant is very important. The infant should have a stable, loving home to start learning the world in. The infant should be cared for, cleaned up after, fed with healthy, natural food, and much energy and attention should be paid to the infant. This is when learning starts.

-Toddler Care: Toddlers are "busy" children! They always seem to be doing something, learning. During all stages of our babies lives it is important that they are able to go outside and learn about nature. Going to parks and giving exposure to the outdoors. Toddlers require much energy and attention as well. They have to be fed healthily, cleaned up after, and be given many activities to do!

-Child Care and Adolescence: As the child grows into a young person, we would like to child to be given many opportunities to learn about the world. We would like them to become their optimal selves, having the capability to express their unique individuality. Parenting is required until the child is aged 18, yet true parenting is a lifetime endeavor! Dola and ComT will always have the role of parents, and it is their job to guide their children into being the best people that they could be!

-Education: Education is key to achieving the goals of parenting a child into a decent, value adding member of society. Having educational resources available, such as teachers, books, knowledge centers, tools such as computers and phones is important, so that the child, as they are learning, has access necessary to aid in their achieving their dreams and goals!

-Financial and Wealth Creation: One major aspect of raising a family is having the financial means to do so. As of this writing, Dola is the financial "breadwinner". She is the one whom makes much more money than ComT. She has access to many financial resources and her financial wealth is infinite. For each of their children, Dola and ComT would like to create accounts that will accessible during the raising of the child (for the Wife to access) and for the child financial accounts that are there custodially, released to the offspring in a staggered manner through the age of 18 (and secretly after!). These accounts should have more than enough for any lifestyle that the wife and children would like to live.

-Spirituality: While worldly education is important, the spiritual realm is even more important, that is why cultivating morality and virtuousness is a priority in raising our children. Spirituality feeds the soul, and whatever path the mother and wife chooses... ComT supports the growth of her chosen spiritual avenue.
